

Wound Care

JUNE 23, 2010

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

Subject: Clinical experience - HELICOLL collagen dressing, a bio-engineered skin-substitute

Helicoll was used on several patients with good results. An example of a chronic wound treated with the product is documented below:

- HELICOLL dressing was initially applied on 4/12/2010.
- HELICOLL was applied for the second time on 5/5/2010.
- Results of the clinical case are shown in the photographs.

The wound healed completely during the clinical observation on 6/9/2010. This case represents the healing pattern observed with various patients. The healing rate was consistently faster with Helicoll than previous methods used for these types of wounds.

Based on our experience and positive results with this product, we recommend it to be used for the management of similar wounds such as chronic non-healing ulcers and chronic diabetic wounds.

Scott W. Benninghoven, MD
Clinical Director